A rare opportunity to acquire residential land in Cyprus with unique elevation and future-proof value. This 2,700 m² plot (net size after road deduction) offers 30% building density and full access to asphalt road, electricity, water, and telecom services — ready for immediate development. Ideal for residential developers or private investors, this land stands out due to its multi-level topography (natural plateaus), allowing creative architectural designs with additional square meters via cleverly positioned “basement” levels that are naturally at ground level on the lower tier.??
